

Dr Ruth Pritchard - Webinar on Implementing Effectively in Human and Social Services (<https://www.activelink.ie/node/108586>)

03 July, 2024

A lot of effort goes into planning interventions and programmes but implementation, typically, receives far less attention and yet, this is where most of us live - in the real, often messy, world of practice and continuous improvement. This live webinar is grounded in Implementation Science and will be useful to NGO, public sector and partner agency staff in human & social services fields who are managing or implementing evidence-based interventions, programmes and services and want to improve their implementation practice. The webinar will provide an overview of implementation science principles, concepts and frameworks, with signposting given to useful resources and toolkits to support practice.
