We all know that the annual report is more than just a profit and loss statement. Annual reports are typically filled with important and often critical information about the charity's finances, its performance, and its goals for the future so make sure it is accessible. Have a read of Is Your Annual Report Accessible (https://www.carmichaelireland.ie/resources/is-your-annual-report-accessible/) to guide you.

Each year, 100s of new nonprofits are established in Ireland and these new groups can find it incredibly challenging to establish themselves and secure funding in a sector with more than 30,000 organisations already in existence. How can New Organisations establish themselves in Ireland's Non-Profit sector? (https://www.carmichaelireland.ie/resources/how-can-new-organisations-establish-themselves-in-irelands-non-profit-sector/) provides some tips to help a new non-profit standout and stand the test of time.

Board Evaluations and why do they matter? (https://www.carmichaelireland.ie/resources/board-evaluations-and-why-do-they-matter/) A Board evaluation is a great opportunity for the Board of a non-profit organisation to take a good look at itself and consider how it operates, how effective are board members individually and collectively. Importantly, it is not a governance review, it is a review of Board performance and effectiveness.
