

Mountaineering Ireland: Hillwalking and Environment Officer (<https://www.activelink.ie/node/113202>)

HILLWALKING & ENVIRONMENT OFFICER

We are looking for an efficient and enthusiastic person to join the Mountaineering Ireland team in the role of Hillwalking and Environment Officer.

The Role

The ideal candidate will be self-motivated, competent and proactive in prioritising and completing a wide range of tasks and projects. The role offers scope for learning and development within a growing organisation, that is focused on enabling responsible participation in hillwalking, climbing and mountaineering, while also caring for the places and environment in which we enjoy our activities.

Key elements of this role

Responsibilities shall include but are not limited to the following:

- Working closely with both the Hillwalking Development and Club Officer and the Access and Conservation Officer to support these key areas of Mountaineering Ireland's work.
- Organising workshops, events and programmes, and promoting these on social media.
- Developing relationships with volunteers, training providers and external partners.
- Acting as an ambassador for Mountaineering Ireland and representing the organisation professionally.
