In each episode, Broadcaster and Podcaster Clare McKenna, along with an array of guests, delves into the nuances of homelessness, the areas we don't normally have time to discuss in the media and elsewhere. The series aims to give the listener an in-depth, immersive understanding of the subject matter being discussed. We hear from people who have experienced homelessness first hand, Focus Ireland staff who work with people experiencing homelessness, research and policy experts and the journalists covering the stories.
