forgotten children has been working to help people with disabilities living in the worlds poorest countries for nearly 100 years.

We support more than 1,000 projects in over 100 countries and are the largest organisation helping people with disabilities in developing countries.

forgotten children believes that no child should be unwanted, abandoned or hidden away just because they have a disability.

It is our aim to provide the medical aid and resources children in developing countries need to overcome or cope with their disability, so that they become active and valued members of their families and communities.

forgotten children is an initiative of CBM, registered charity no.14987
